

Kidnaped an Recovered From Lonely Ranch Hut

Police Arrest Two Men on Charge of Abducting Mrs.
Witherell.

WANT MONEY AND REVENGE
Three Other Persons Are Implicated in the Plot,
Police Say.

By United Press Leased Wire
Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 30.—Mrs. Gladys Witherell, who was kidnaped last Tuesday night from her Hollywood home, was rescued by police and deputy sheriff, shortly before 5 o'clock this morning from a deserted ranch several miles east of Corona, Calif.

Two men were arrested and they are said to have confessed to the abduction.

Mrs. Witherell said she had not been harmed.

The tip which led to finding the woman, was given to Sheriff Manning late Sunday.

A man came to the sheriff's office and gave information directing the officials to the lonely ranch shack.

The disappearance of Mrs. Witherell was one of the strangest kidnaping cases in Los Angeles police records.

While her husband, a wealthy broker, was absent from home on Tuesday, a gray-haired man came to her door. After talking with him for a few minutes, Mrs. Witherell took her child to a neighbors and said that a woman was injured a few blocks away and was calling for her. That was the last seen of Mrs. Witherell until today.

The pair under arrest are A. W. Carr and Floyd Carr, cousins.

A. W. Carr was captured here at midnight last night and after a grilling is said to have made a complete confession.

In automobiles, the officers sped out to the ranch hut. They alighted from their cars about a quarter of a mile from the cabin where Mrs. Witherell was held captive. Cautiously they crept forward on foot. Arriving at the house, they formed a cordon. At a given signal the men leaped forward and battered in the doors and windows. Taken by surprise, Carr was easily captured.

Mrs. Witherell was in the best of health and asserted she had been well cared for all the time.

Floyd Carr is declared to have been the "master mind" in the sensational kidnaping. The Carrs, the police assert, were inspired by ill feeling toward Mrs. Witherell's father-in-law, Allen J. Witherell, retired banker, formerly of Chicago.

The crime was planned for revenge and to gain a huge sum of money, the abductors are said to have admitted.

Floyd Carr is the "mysterious gray-haired man" who lured Mrs. Witherell away from her Hollywood bungalow by a story that a woman friend had been injured and was calling for her. She accompanied the Carrs in an automobile and when she became suspicious, she was chloroformed, according to the story she told officers.

Mrs. Witherell was taken through the mountains to the lonely ranch cabin where she was held captive in a room containing but a cot and two blankets.

The man brought her candy and treated her with every respect, she said.

At least three other persons are implicated in the kidnaping and hoped to obtain a share in the ransom money. Demands for $50,000 had been made of the young woman's husband.

The abductors planned to arrange that the ransom money be deposited on a lonely mountain road under a red lantern to be provided for the purpose, it is said, and Mrs. Witherell was to be released on the roadside so that she could be picked up by friends later.

The meeting between Witherell and his wife was intensely dramatic. She became hysterical. He hurried into the cabin at the heels of officers and the Witherells rushed into each other's outstretched arms.

A. W. Carr confessed to authorities, the latter assert, that the abduction was inspired by enmity of two years standing and by the abductor's desperate need for funds.

BANDITS SHOOT 3 COPS AND ESCAPE

Detroit.—Three bandits, fighting their way from the brokerage office of William T. Martin, in the heart of Detroit's business district, shot and seriously wounded three police detectives who entered the office as the robbers were leaving, carrying with them $12,000 in bonds.

Two hundred detectives in 25 automobiles and armed with riot guns were dispatched in pursuit.

As the three bandits entered the private banking establishment, a clerk touched the police alarm. The police fled arrived just as the robbers were leaving and the three detectives were inside the door before they escaped. Facing capture the robbers shot their way out.

NEXT PROBLEM IS TO INDUCE BERLIN TO PAY

Fixing German Reparations
Does Not Solve European Situation.

55 BILLION IS TOO HIGH
Americans Believe Germany
Will Be Unable to Meet
Allied Demands.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1921)
Washington.—Victories are sometimes belated but history records them none the less. All Washington is pleased over the triumph at Paris of the American idea of fixing a definite sum that Germany should pay as reparation for war damages.

For months the American financial commissioners at Paris fought for the fixing of a definite sum but both Prime Minister Lloyd George and Premier Clemenceau were afraid that any sum that might be fixed would be disappointing to their people and that they themselves would be swept out of political power. President Wilson admitted before the Senate foreign relations committee at the White House that the failure to fix the indemnity to be paid by Germany was "an international secret" and Senator Borah didn't press him for a reply. But the truth is the prime ministers of the allied countries had retained their political power by promising the masses that Germany would pay an enormous war indemnities.

As the world has known the history of the agreement that has been reached at Paris, the effect upon American business, agricultural and industrial was a subject of much discussion here wherever the news from Paris was carefully studied. American cotton growers and wheat growers and manufacturers who have been clamoring for foreign markets have not been able to sell their goods because European markets have been depressed in value. German markets have been doubtful value because the worth of German money has fluctuated so much.

With the fixing of the indemnity, the German people will have a definite goal. They will know exactly the amount they are mortgaged and what their opportunities will be to rise above their indebtedness.

Blamed For Depression
Indeed the far reaching importance of the agreement at Paris of the allies is not exaggerated here where most everybody believes the fixing of the indemnity is the biggest event that has happened since the peace treaty was signed.

The world-wide business depression has been traced by economists directly to the financial uncertainty that hovered over central Europe.
Not knowing how big a load they were obliged to carry, the Germans could hardly make future plans. Internal political disorders always thrive when there is vagueness and indecision in the central government.

The American financial commissioners at Paris—Norman Davis, who is at present under Secretary of State, Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan and Co., James McCormick and Bernard Baruch—insisted at Paris that the allies fix a term of 30 years. The reports from Paris indicate the allies are willing to stretch it to 42 years.
The American advisers didn't suggest a specific sum though it was commonly reported that they favored 20 billions of dollars. Paris reports say the indemnity will be fixed at 55 billions.

Problem Not Settled
But the vital fact is that the allies at last have accepted the principle of the American commission, namely, the fixing of a maximum and minimum of some kind with a definite term of years. Of course, our officials have only read the newspaper reports thus far but a personal canvass of the various men who know the reparation question both from a banking standpoint as well as our own government's connection with it leads to the conclusion that the problem is by no means settled. A start has been made. The allies have agreed among themselves but when they approach the Germans, it is certain that the latter will show the futility of imposing such a large sum as 55 billions. And the Germans will find considerable support in the United States for their view. The allies will naturally have a good deal of respect for American opinion for it is no

JOHNSON WANTS TO SEE JAP AGREEMENT

California Senator Demands Report of Negotiations Be Made Public.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—A demand that the report of Ambassador Roland S.
Morris in his negotiations with Baron Shidehara, Japanese ambassador here, be made public, was made today by Senator Hiram Johnson, California.

The report was made to Secretary of State Colby.

Johnson's statement formed another chapter in a controversy with Secretary of State Colby which started when Johnson condemned any proposed treaty continuing land rights of Japanese in California.
Colby said Johnson was misinformed about the negotiations.

Johnson today replied that the "matter is beyond personal controversy" and that the people of the west had a right to know about the negotiations which were started over the Japanese protest against the California alien land law. The report on the negotiations had been discussed at length in Tokyo, Johnson said.

EASTMAN KODAK CO. AGREES TO DISSOLVE

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—The Eastman Kodak company, Rochester, New York, in supreme court today agreed to a dissolution of its interests alleged by the government to be a combine in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The dissolution will be in accordance with a decree of a lower court holding that the combination restricted interstate commerce.

M'SWINEY CHAPLAIN IS GIVEN 3 YEARS IN JAIL

the late Lord Mayor MacSwiney, must serve three years in a military prison,
according to a court martial decision

It was one of the most sensational court martial decisions in the history of the British army.

JUDGE LANDIS ADVOCATE OF LEGAL BOXING MATCHES

Chicago.—Legal boxing contests are advocated by Federal Judge Landis, chief commissioner of baseball.

Talking from a pulpit, yesterday, Landis said he kept fit by boxing an argued passage of a law which permitted holding of boxing contests.

Landis also declared prohibition a "blow to the nation" and said he would be willing to leave it to the American legion to enforce it.

2 DARK HORSES ARE ENTERED IN CABINET RACE

President-Elect Is Keeping Names of Cabinet Advisors to Himself.

THREE DEFINITELY PICKED
Hughes, Fall and Wallace Are Practically Certain of Appointment.

By Raymond Clapper
By United Press Leased Wire
Miami Beach, Fla.—Two dark horses will show in the cabinet of Warren
G. Harding, according to authentic sources close to the president-elect to day.

They will be names which have hitherto figured prominently in cabinet speculation. It is understood.

Only Harding's most intimate friends will know the identity of the two cabinet surprises in advance of the formal announcement expected about March 4. Even the portfolios that will be assigned these two men is a mystery, but they are likely to be commerce and labor, according to the best judgment of persons close to the president-elect. This development further increases the uncertainty surrounding the Harding cabinet. The president-elect went off on a two day fishing trip along the shores of the Colombia, a deserted island thirty miles away, today, with only three out of the ten cabinet places definitely filled.

Three Men Picked
These are Charles E. Hughes for secretary of state; Senator Fall, New Mexico, for secretary of the interior, and Henry G. Wallace, for secretary of agriculture.

For a time even Hughes appeared to be losing out but it is understood that the effort of powerful political leaders in Washington to have Elihu Root displace Hughes, failed.

Prior to the cruise of the Victoria,
Fall had not been expected to enter the cabinet. But, it is said, during the trip down the coast, Harding induced Fall, who was in the party, to accept.
Harry M. Daugherty is a cabinet certainly, but instead of becoming attorney general as had been contemplated, he may be made postmaster general leaving the department of justice open to a lawyer of national prominence, possibly former Senator George Sutherland of Utah.

This would depend on whether Will H. Hays is made a member of the cabinet. He has been slated for the postmaster generalship but opposition from some of Harding's advisers is understood to have created considerable uncertainty regarding Hays' appointment. For treasurer, Charles G.
Dawes, Chicago, and Andrew W. Mellon, Pittsburgh, continue to be mentioned, but no decision has been reached by Harding.

Packers Lose Fight
The drive of packer interests against Wallace as secretary of agriculture is understood to have failed completely and the Iowa farm editor will be appointed, according to the best information obtainable.

Harding had previously considered appointing Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, but he preferred to remain in the senate and suggested Wallace instead.

Former Senator John W. Weeks, Massachusetts, is expected to be in the cabinet but whether as secretary of war or in the navy is uncertain.

Harry A. Wheeler, Chicago and former Governor of Illinois are mentioned for secretary of commerce and James Duncan, Boston labor leader, and Congressman Nolan, California, for labor.

These are only suggestions, however, and there is no indication as to what their chances are.

ITALY UP IN ARMS AGAINST RADICALS

Socialists Blame Government for Attacks Last Week.

By United Press Leased Wire
Rome.—Enraged over events of the most disastrous week in the history of Italian socialism, socialist leaders today began a determined effort to overthrow the Giolitti cabinet.

Debates, participated in by thirty deputies, were expected to last through the week with Premier Giolitti certain to receive a strong vote of confidence at their conclusion.

Socialists in their opening statements, declared the government has not made proper use of facilities to "prevent the man hunting and assaulting of socialists by the fascisti (anti-socialists)."

They charged the premier directly with responsibility for the nation-wide reaction against socialism.

The only refuge for the socialist deputies was within the chamber itself, guarded by troops. If they ventured outside, they were apt to be chased by mobs which drove them from restaurants and threatened their lives.

The deputies, charged that troops and police should have been assigned to better advantage to prevent attacks on socialist meeting places, labor halls and the like.

VIENNA SAVANT KNOWS HOW TO BANISH AGE

By United Press Leased Wire
Vienna.—A ray of hope for aging womanhood has been discovered, according to the announcement today of Professor Holzknecht, director of the roentgen institute here.

It is the roentgen ray.

"Woman is rejuvenated physiologically and psychologically by the treatment I have devised," Holzknecht declared.

Complexions have cleared, eyes brightened and wrinkles disappeared
while the patient entered her old life with new zest, he declared.

The treatment, he said, consists in playing the feeblest rays upon the patient.

"Age is banished," the professor
declared.

About 50 per cent of his experiments have been successful, he said.

FORD GAINS NEARLY 3,000 IN VOTE COUNT

Washington.—The net gain of Henry Ford over Truman Newberry in the senate recount of the 1918 senatorial elections was 2,931 votes at noon today.

This includes the fourteenth ward of Detroit.

In the thirteenth precinct of the fourteenth ward, 98 votes that had not been counted were found. Forty-five were for Newberry and 53 for Ford. In the thirteenth precinct of the fourteenth ward 12 votes that had five were for Newberry and 53 for Ford.

High Court Paves Way For New Trial For Victor Berger

Wilson Rejects
PALMER'S PLEA
FOR DEBS PARDON

Court Declares Land's Should Have Called in Another Trial Judge.

PREJUDICE WAS CHARGED
Berger Based Hope for New Trial on Statements Made by Federal Judge.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—Victor L. Berger of Milwaukee, and other socialist leaders, in the supreme court today won one of the main points upon which they relied for a reversal of their convictions and sentences to 20 years' imprisonment for violation of the espionage act.

The court held that Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis of the federal district court at Chicago, where the socialists were first tried, was disqualified as a trial judge when the socialists filed an affidavit of prejudice against him because of statements he was alleged to have made in pronouncing sentence upon a man convicted of a violation of the espionage act, shortly before the Berger trial.

Berger and his associate, Adolph Germer, J. Louis Engdahl, Irwin St.
John Tucker and William K. Kruse, claimed that Landis' statements revealed prejudices against them and that therefore he should have granted a change of venue for trial.

My Get New Trial
As a result of the court's action, it is possible that the decision of Landis may be reversed and a new trial ordered before another judge.

The decision, however, does not finally settle the case of Berger and the others.

The decision of the court was six to three. Justices Day, Pitney and Mc-Reynolds dissented.

SEE BRITISH HAND IN NAVAL HOLIDAY

Experts Will Warn Against Suspension of Battleship Construction.

Washington.—A warning against any suspension of battleship construction will be proven to the country shortly in a report from the general board of the navy, it was learned today.

Secretary Daniels has asked the general board for its conclusions on the constitution of the strongest navy.
In view of the debate in this country and Great Britain, as to whether submarines and aircraft have made the battleship of less value. The report is expected to be completed this week; and Daniels said he will make it available to congress. In connection with the opposition to any suspension of building, it is known that high naval officers in Washington believe a British propaganda is being carried on to hold up the American naval building program.

These officers declare that Great Britain, fearful of losing to the United States its traditional distinction of possessing the world's greatest navy, would like to see this government adopt this aircraft-submarine theory and suspend building of battleships.

The dissenting justices upheld
Landis and claimed that the statements attributed to him by the socialists were false when compared with the official signatures on the report.

The government claims that the stenographic reports show that Landis said:

"It is just this type of man that has branded almost the whole German-American population. One German-American like this fellow, going about talking this stuff, does more damage

CHILD IS BORN AFTER MOTHER DIES IN WRECK

Milwaukee.—Through a caesarean operation a baby girl was brought into the world at St. Mary's hospital, Racine, Wis., last night, several minutes after the mother, who was fatally injured in an auto accident, had succumbed.

Physicians said the child probably would live.

The mother, Mrs. Morris Wald, of Milwaukee, lost her life when a Northwestern passenger train struck her auto in which she was riding. Her husband, Morris Wald, president of the United States Radiator company of this city, her father-in-law and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. W.
Wald, and three others were injured.

REPARATIONS TOO HIGH. GERMAN PAPERS CHARGE

Berlin.—Germany cannot accept allied demands for reparations, newspapers declared today.

"Let them do what they will. Ger-

"The children of this and future generations are sentenced to death by these decisions," according to the Kreuz Zeitung.

The Tagliche Rundschau asserted the entire "tagliche" has appealed to death by these decisions.

In his address at the poultry show Sunday afternoon J. B. Haynes of the poultry department of the college of agriculture at Madison stated that artificial light did not increase the number of eggs a hen lays during the year but does decrease the number laid during the winter months when the days are high.

Haynes said that at the college of agriculture the lights are turned on at 5:30 p. m., and while the hens go to roost at sundown they are always on the floor to receive their feed at that time. The college has found that hens lay 14 hours of light during the winter months.

"The use of artificial light in increasing the production of eggs is new," said the speaker. "It was first discovered by a humberger in the woods who made a profit from a few hens he kept shut in a coop all day long." He noticed that the chickens left their roost as soon as the light was turned on and began searching for food."

The poultry show closed at 6 o'clock.

WOULD CONSERVE STREET RAILWAYS

Appleton Shares Affirmative Ballot on National Trac-tion Problem.

A program looking to improvement of the country's street railway is advanced by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States as a result of the vote on referendum No. 33. Most of the 1,400 commercial organizations in the country voted exactly as the Appleton chamber did, according to the schedule of results received here.

Votes cast on some of the eight proposals were unanimous. There are only a few dissenting ballots on others. The expressions indicate business men realize something must be done to remedy conditions which are jeopardizing the street car properties in which capital amounting to millions is tied up.

The only pronounced objection, judging from the votes cast, was on the proposal that all burdens unrelated to the service performed should be removed. This refers to paying between rails, building and maintenance of bridges and other right-of-way expenses usually borne by companies.

The sentiment expressed by the ballots is that local transportation is an industry to be fostered and developed and should be free from anything that will prove destructive or opposed to conservation of present utilities. Companies that were victims of mismanagement in the past should not be so regarded now, providing they are giving good service at lowest cost.

Private ownership and regulation that will take cognizance of changes, are urged. One single agency of the public should be directly responsible for regulation. The public should also be informed regarding the company and its operations, and the company should become acquainted with needs of the community, the recommendations state. This is defined as a means of averting many of the present controversies.

DARBOY FACTORY CLOSES BIG YEAR

More Than a Quarter Million Pounds of Cheese Was Made in 1920.

More than two million pounds of milk was consumed by Darboy Cheese factory in 1920, according to the report of George Miller, cheesemaker, submitted at the annual meeting last week. The average price paid to farmers was $2.20 a hundred pounds.

The meeting was held at Ashbauer hall, Darboy, with W. A. Hopfensperger presiding. Talks on the cheese business were given by Wilbert Jacquot, Appleton, and A. E. Aderhold, Plymouth. The company voted 15 to 5 to join the cheese federation at Plymouth for another year.

Henry Hupfaut tendered his resignation as treasurer and was succeeded by August Wundrow. Other officers elected were John G. VanGroll, secretary; Jacob Ashauer, Frank W. Stumpf and Jerome Uitenbroek, directors. The Citizens' National bank was authorized as the company's depository.

Annual reports showed that 2,571,415 pounds of milk had been received and that 225,804 pounds of cheese had been manufactured. The price paid to farmers for milk averaged $2.30, or 622 cents a pound of butter fat. The average butter fat test was 3.688 and it took an average of 10 1/2 pounds of milk to make a pound of cheese.

Gross cash receipts for the year amounted to $62,842.97. Of this amount, farmers received $54,325.62 and the cheesemaker's expenses were $5,249.72.

Volleyball Tourney

The arrangement for games in the Y. M. C. A. volleyball tournament gives the 6:15 class teams a chance to determine what it can do against the 8:15 classes. The 6:15 and 8:15 first teams will play Monday night at 8 o'clock. The second teams will meet in a match at 9 o'clock. Tuesday 5:15 seconds will play against the 6:15 seconds at 6:15 Monday evening.

Miss Dorothy Oestreich of Janesville has arrived in Appleton where she will register for studies at Lawrence college.

Woman Attends Sunday School Here For 32 Years

Did you ever hear of Burt Baer? Well, Burt Baer is a lad of nineteen summers who lives in New Philadelphia and he has attended Sunday school for 12 consecutive years without being absent or tardy. That's a pretty fine record but there are some pretty fine ones on books of the various Sunday schools of our own city.

Theodore Janson, 446 Lincoln street, who is 12 years old began attending the Sunday school at Trinity English Lutheran church in December, 1916 and has only missed four sessions during the entire period. He joined the Sunday school when it was organized and holds the best individual record for the school.

A member of the junior department of the Congregational Sunday school, Cornelia Heideman has been absent only once in four years. During this period she has had a perfect record on the books, that is she has done the prescribed work for each lesson perfectly.

Mrs. E. E. Arnold, 869 Appleton-st., started to attend the Sunday school of the Baptist church in 1889, 32 years ago when the Rev. Mr. Leland was pastor in the old church. At that time Mrs. Arnold was a mere girl and sang in the choir. She says that as she remembers the congregation from the choir loft there is not one person who attended church then who is in the congregation now. Mrs. Arnold has attended the Baptist Sunday school continuously since 1889 a period covering 32 years.

KONZ BOX TEAM WINS CLOSE BASKETBALL GAME

Konz Box factory basketball team was defeated by the Third ward team Saturday night in the Y. M. C. A. in the hardest fought game of the Saturday night league. The score was 8 to 7. The two other games were walkaways for Kimberly-Clark and the Crescents, who played Telulah mill team and Arcades respectively.

No one starred individually in the first game. Every man played good basketball and helped to make the game lively. The Telulah men didn't get a look in against Kimberly-Clark. They were so completely outclassed they did not get a counter. The final score was 20 to 0.

The Crescents annihilated the Arcades by a 27 to 9 score. C. Olson scored 6 field goals for the Crescents; Clark scored 4 goals. O'Hanlon made two baskets for the Arcade team.

Enrolment Grows.

Students of the high school are again settling down to a half school year of routine study after a week of review and examinations. Semester examinations took place the last three days of last week. Between thirty-five and forty students entered from other schools, making the present enrolment of the high school nearly 750.

HAY IS SELLING FROM $16 TO $18 PER TON

Baled hay is selling in Appleton at $20 per ton. It is only within the last two years that the price of baled hay dropped below that of loose hay. J. F. Rose, who has charge of the city scales at the fair grounds, says the automobile business has about destroyed the local hay market. A few years ago it was a common sight to see from ten to fifteen loads of hay at the fair grounds waiting to be weighed, while now they usually come one at a time. Last fall hay was selling at $28 a ton, but farmers refused to sell at that time, being of the opinion that the price would go still higher. From that time the market has gradually declined and farmers have been caught with a considerable supply on hand.

Car is Damaged

Dr. H. T. Johnson's touring car was damaged Sunday noon when it crashed into a post on Appleton street at the Midway corner. The machine skidded on the slippery pavement, swinging suddenly in the opposite direction from which it was going, and striking the post. The fender and other front portions were damaged but Dr. Johnson was unhurt.

APPLETON BOYS LIKE WIRELESS

Some Instruments Here Can Send Messages as Far as 800 Miles.

The study of the wireless seems to be quite a hobby in the high school. Several of the boys spend their spare time in the workshop, making coils, or turning out bases for spark gaps. Nearly a whole set can be made in the workshop. There are a few delicate pieces which must be purchased. Robert Thompson, Dallas Jansen and a few other boys lead in the "wireless industry". Of course, like boys, they get a fairly good set in working order and then dismantle it in order to make a better one. But some very surprising results have been secured with the sets the boys have.

Robert Thompson has been heard in Manitowish, Sheboygan and Oshkosh. He has received messages from an approximate distance of 800 miles. Once when "talking" to one of his fellow wireless men, he received the signal to stop sending. He was told the receiving operator was tuned to 600 meters and was listening to a speech which was being given. Johnson tried to tune his instrument, but failed. He later figured out that 600 meters would be somewhere in Illinois.

Menner is Speaker

The Rev. J. L. Menner gave the usual 15-minute talk at the meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon. His topic was "Being a Christian." Several musical selections were given by the Mandolin club. ## ATHLETIC LEAGUE FORMED FOR BOYS

Churches, Schools, Y. M. C. A. and Boy Scouts in New Movement.

Ten men, representing the Y. M. C. A., Boy Scouts, churches and schools, answered invitations to attend a meeting at 2:30 Saturday in the Y. M. C. A. for the purpose of forming a Boys' Athletic League. Plans were made for a survey of the boys of the city between the ages of 15 and 18. The survey will be made this week by the institutions represented in the newly formed organization which will be known as Appleton Athletic association. Reports as to the weight, height, age and preference of each boy for a certain basketball team will be sent on the date road. The machine skidded on the slippery pavement and was precipitated into the ditch. Both Examinations for entrance into the association will begin next Saturday. Another meeting will be called for that day. Efforts will be made to have the league in working order by next week. It is estimated that 40 basketball teams will report the first day.

APPLETON MEN ON STATE HARDWARE MEN'S PROGRAM

Schlafer of Appleton, president, will make his report. Clyde Hiers of Appleton will read a paper on "Selling High Grade Paint to a Catalog House Customer."

TAX EXEMPTION FOR NEW HOUSES

The proposal made by Lawson Purdy, former president of the New York City board of taxes and exemptions, before the housing conference at Washington that new dwellings be granted a tax exemption for the next fifteen years to stimulate building suggests a policy which should receive widespread consideration. According to estimates made by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which called this conference, there is a shortage today of 1,250,000 dwellings in the United States. The number built in 1919 fell to 70,000 from the annual average of 350,000 prior to the war, and the figures for 1920 are expected to be even less favorable.

The general and acute shortage of housing facilities is one of the principal local causes for unsatisfactory conditions that exist in most cities. Industrial expansion has been restricted by the inability to get homes for labor. Those cities which have natural and economic reasons for growth, like Appleton for instance, are unable to develop because they can not take care of new additions to population. This has reflected itself adversely in mercantile transactions and in business generally. The only satisfactory phase of the situation is that it is universal and that one city has not prospered greatly at the expense of another.

However, it is apparent that enterprise and expansion cannot go forward without increased housing accommodations. The war left construction in a broken down condition and the high prices which have prevailed up to a recent period were prohibitive of building. There has been considerable relief in the direction of cost, but it remains to be seen to what extent this will of itself promote construction the coming year.

For one thing the country must have relief from combinations which have been assessing graft upon practically all extensive building operations. These combinations will doubtless be broken up, and when that is done lower costs undoubtedly will revive building greatly. Still it is a long way back to normal conditions in building, and it is apparent on the face of things that the sooner we get back to normal construction the sooner we shall put the country in a state of progressive prosperity. We have a proposal before the legislature now to exempt incomes of $5,000 or less from taxation. Would it not be better to tax such incomes moderately and exempt newly built houses from taxation which cost $5,000 or less for a certain period of years? This it seems to us would be a constructive move in taxation. It ought to play a considerable part in enlarging the inducements to build. Whatever is done toward reorganizing our taxation we think a proposal of this kind is of sufficient merit to invite its candid and thorough consideration.

A resumption of building on a scale required to meet our present necessities would produce more prosperity than any other one agency. It would also do more than anything else to enable advancing cities to make the most of their opportunities. Whatever will accomplish this is of public benefit, and carefully safeguarded exemption from taxes on new homes would, it would seem, do much toward helping us out of a serious situation. Objections may be found which would make such concessions unwise, but the proposal is at least deserving of discussion.

HONESTY IN JURY SERVICE

Prohibition is sufficiently unpopular in St. Louis to make it difficult to obtain the conviction of a violator of the Volstead law by a jury. After three defendants had been acquitted there in the face of convincing evidence of their guilt the presiding judge a few days ago discharged the entire panel of 100 jurors. The situation directs attention to the mistaken conception that some men hold in regard to jury service. Though sworn to find a verdict in accordance with the law and the evidence, they feel that they are entitled to consult their personal wishes as to whether the defendant should go free. This feeling becomes predominant when the law which the defendant is accused of violating is unpopular. Ignoring the evidence and acquitting the guilty in such cases is demoralizing; it paves the way for similar action in cases involving other laws. The oath taken by the jurors is held lightly, the courts are brought into contempt, and public morals suffer.

The remedy lies in educating jurors to hold their oaths as a sacred promise, not to be set aside by personal predilections. If they object to a law, they are at liberty to try to have it repealed; if a majority of the people dislike a statute, they have it in their power to elect representatives who will wipe it off the books. But if the majority desire the law to stand, democratic principles and good citizenship demand that all shall yield to their wishes.

FOR GOVERNMENTAL EFFICIENCY

The proposal to advance the date of the inauguration nearer to the time of the election of the president and vice president of the United States is one that should not be permitted to pass without serious consideration by congress. It will be necessary to secure the adoption of an amendment to the constitution to bring about the change. Congress has been in session since the first Monday of December, but it has done nothing in the way of legislation or any other action to help solve the problems of the readjustment period, and the majority is waiting until a president in sympathy with its political ideas has been inaugurated.

The interval of four months which elapses between the election and the inauguration of a president is practically wasted by congress when a change of administration is pending. Even if congress should pass measures favored by the Republican party, it is almost certain that they would be vetoed by the Democratic president.

Two proposals for amending the constitution regarding the inauguration are pending in congress. One of them fixes the first Monday of December for the meeting of the new congress and the second Monday for the inauguration of the president. The other fixes the second Monday of January for the meeting of congress and the third Monday for the inauguration of the president.

The first proposal would probably be favored by a majority of the people. If there is any advantage in making the change, it might as well be made within 30 days of the holding of the election, which would give plenty of time for verification of the vote by the senate, which would meet one week ahead of the inauguration.

The waste of time and money by a congress which is not actually functioning because of an antagonistic administration, seems warrant enough for the passing of a resolution that would place the matter of changing the inaugural date before the state legislatures. It would represent governmental economy and efficiency that may well be approved by all the states.

THE OLD FOX RIVER
(By Morgan S. Metcalf)
Past towns and farms along its course,
With sunbeams all a-quiver,
Past gloom and shade, in light and shade,
Flows sunny old Fox River.

Wild flowers and ferns with sweet careers,
Over it are softly bending,
And wild bird's song the whole day long,
Chimes with its hymn of mending.

Past meadows bright the river flows,
And June Grove Park so old,
On past Toluah's bubbling springs,
All flushed with sunshine golden.

How oft when floating down the stream,
In twilight's golden splendor,
It whispered low as wavelets flow,
Told its story sweet and tender.

Oh, ripple sweet! Oh, ripple low!
While young sons and daughters
Waive a broken time with merry chime,
Make music on the water.

But pause and sing a requiem
In undertones of sorrow,
For those who stood here yesterday
But come not back tomorrow.

GALLBLADDER INFLAMMATION
The gall bladder should be distinguished from the bladder which serves as a reservoir for the kidney excretion. The gall bladder is scarcely as large as a hen's egg and holds only an ounce or two of gall or bile. It has no function, at least none which is more essential to health or life than the function of the wisdom teeth, the tonsils and the vermiform appendix, which is none at all so far as can be discovered today (although half-baked, untrained by mail short-cut healers can conjure up all kinds of functions for these vestigial and troublesome structures, anything only so it is opposed to horse sense or science).

Inflammation of the lining of the gallbladder is much more frequent than popularly supposed. Most cases are unrecognized, at least for some months or years, because the sufferers are quite content to assume they have "stomach trouble," "food troubles to gas," "acidity," "heartburn," "dyspepsia," "indigestion," "neuralgia" or something similarly indefinite. Only a few subjects of gallbladder inflammation (doctors call it cholecystitis) have gallstones. Gallstones are rather an accidental consequence or feature of gallbladder inflammation; the cause of gallbladder inflammation (infection by germs) does not necessarily lead to gallstone formation.

In a recent talk about gallstones I gave the common sources of the causative bacterial infection, and of course they are the same for gallbladder inflammation—typhoid fever in years past, long neglected infection about the gums, teeth, tonsils, accessory sinuses of the nose chambers, pelvic infections of men and women, ulceration or inflammation of the bowel, chronic appendicitis.

Attacks of so-called "indigestion" or "biliousness" (both wholly imaginary explanations for discomfort or indisposition) associated with a sense of heaviness or bloating after meals (which perhaps seems to be relieved somewhat by belching gas), and slight soreness or tenderness in the right upper corner of the abdomen, suggests cholecystitis. In some cases there are repeated attacks at irregular intervals of rather severe distress or pain felt about the stomach, with palpitation or a sense of oppression about the heart, attacks occurring preferably in the night and in a rather too well fed (overweight) individual of thirty or over, especially one of the victims of these attacks to assume the cause of the discomfort is indigestion, or some one perfectly innocent wholemeal article of food, such as cabbage, beans, or cheese. We blame our ration for a great many of our physical deficiencies. When attacks like these occur, with some impairment of health for days afterward, or for weeks or months, then it is certainly reckless to go on ascribing them to such impossible causes as "indigestion."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Pimples
Please recommend something for blackheads and pimples that come especially about the nose and cheeks and keep my nose and cheeks red and sore most of the time. (O. W.)

ANSWER—Apply at night after a prolonged hot water bathing of the face, this lotion:
Zinc sulphate ..... 1 dram
Sulphurated potassium ..... 1 dram
Rose water ..... 4 ounces
This may be continued for a week or so, then rest for a week and repeat if necessary.

Smoking Once a Day
You have given the good advice to men to smoke only once a day, after supper in the evening. My husband has long followed that practice, though he starts smoking first thing in the morning and smokes all day and late into the night—but just once a day, he insists. His physician has warned him he must stop. Can you give me a formula to use to break him of the habit? (Mrs. I. F. M.)

ANSWER—No, madam, but I will gladly give your husband suggestions for freeing himself of the craving if he wishes me to do so.

Movies And Morals.
By Frederic J. Haskin
New York City.—Just as the churches some time ago decided that they could not get along without movies, so the movies have now decided that they cannot get along without the churches. Thus, a new and unexpected friendship has very recently developed between the cloth and the film. Movie producers are seen arm in arm, in deep confab, with eminent preachers; film stars are being photographed by their press agents while attending church services; and moving picture studios are opening wide their doors to visiting parties of missionaries and deacons.

The cause of this large and sudden fraternal spirit is—censorship. The connection may not be at once apparent, but it is easily explained.

All their lives, the movies have hated and feared censorship. All their lives they have fought it, bitterly, obstinately and unrelentingly. Yet censorship of moving pictures has never been totally vanquished. Various states have continued to keep it clearly in mind, while Congress has an annoying way of bringing the matter up in idle moments, and remarks about the advisability of a national censorship bureau. But, worst of all, the reformers have recently opened their 1921 campaign with an eloquent attack upon present-day film standards and an emphatic demand for nationwide censorship.

Now, the movies are just as determined as ever that their business is not going to be supervised by some Government agency at Washington. But experience has taught them that fighting accomplishes little good; that, verily, it is the meek who inherit the earth, and that there is much to be said in favor of complete disarmament. So they are addressing the reformers in this public wise:—"We know that there is great room for improvement in our film products. We know as well as you do that they are rather saturated with sex, but we can also prove to you, by the size of moving picture box office receipts, that sex saturation pays, and it is therefore what the public wants. However, we will make this proposition: We will guarantee to make 'clean, wholesome' film dramas, fully clothed and purged, if you will guarantee in return to get the public to come and see them."

Petticoat Control
For the benefit of the women of the nation, who are recognized leaders in the campaign for better moving pictures, the movies have adopted the simple, homely phrase, "petticoat control." They are making a clean house throughout the industry, and the churches, and the Girl Scouts, and the Campfire Girls and the Jewish B'nai B'rith and the Y. W. C. A. are going to help them do it.

All of these agencies have recently been enrolled in a League for Better Pictures, with a headquarters here in New York and with some of the city's best known society women on its honorary list. Mrs. Oliver Harriman, Mrs. Lewis Gouverneur Morris, Mrs. James Lees Ludlow, Mrs. Charles L. Sackville, Stoner, Mrs. Charles L. Tiffany, Mrs. Arthur Choate and Mrs. James Speyer, are all interested in the movement.

The idea is to make the League for Better Pictures an unofficial bureau of censorship, although the word censorship is carefully avoided. Its offices will become a general clearing house for complaints, suggestions and approvals. It will have its own projection room for showing pictures, to which all moving picture producers interested in the plan will send their products. Members of the league will be notified when a picture is to be shown, and when an audience of censors is gathered together, cards will be passed around, upon which each person watching the film will write his or her opinion.

Later, these cards will be collected, like ballots, from a jury, and the general verdict rendered on the picture. If it is merely passable, it will simply receive the O. K. of the league. If it is objectionable, no comment at all will be made. And if it is particularly bad, it will be discarded by the medal of the league—a really very nice medal designed by Gutzen Longlum.

At this point, the projection room of the league in New York fades out, and the scene shifts to the headquarters of any woman's club anywhere in the United States. All the housewives and prominent women of the community are listening with gratifying interest to an eminent clergyman on the platform, who is explaining why people should go to see only moving pictures that have received the endorsement of the Better Pictures League.

Get Preachers' Support
The O. K. of the league is also lately to be trusted," he asserts positively, "and hence this picture, I feel sure, may be seen with perfect safety by any member of my congregation, or anybody else's congregation. I can more than recommend the picture beginning at the theater next week. As it has received the medal of the league, but I sincerely hope that none of you will go to see that questionable film which is appearing further down the block, for it has been released in ignominious silence."

After this, the meeting breaks up, except for a few officials who remain in the small, front office for a brief business caucus. One of these is the president of the club, who picks up a letter from the registrar's desk, with a hint of coming discipline.

"My dear ladies," she begins severely, glancing about the feminine circle, "we will simply have to put a little more pep into our campaign for better pictures here. This is a letter from the New York league, which says that we are not holding up our end of the movement. The scandalous feature of which appeared here last week without the league's endorsement drew a much larger house than their selected film, and we all know that the same thing is likely to happen this week. Now, we've got to pull together, and make the town support our pictures. Promise me that you will call on everybody you know to-day, and make them go to see that league picture tonight, whether they want to or not. Meeting adjourned."

The next scene in the scene for better pictures takes place one year later, and is in the office of the most prosperous moving picture exhibitor in the same town. The M. P. E. is talking to the salesman of a large New York motion picture distributing agency.

"Now you can't put that stuff over on me," he says confidently, "for I know better. You used to be able to pass those pictures on to me, because I signed for 10 at a time, and didn't know what I was getting, but now I buy only pictures branded by the league, and I won't take any others. They're clean, decent and suitable for children, and that's what this town wants. It's a clean town and we want clean pictures."

This, at least, is the way the movie producers envision the outcome of their present plans to appease the reformers. For years they have regarded the waste of the public with undignified patience. As fast as the public has changed its mind, so have the producers. The public wanted special stars, and the producers gave it special stars; then it wanted special directors, and the producers gave it special directors, and now it wants well-acted, well-directed, well-known stories, and the producers are trying to give it that. But upon one thing the public has never changed its mind, and according to the producers, and that is the so-called sex lure. It has always followed that.

Public Follows Sex Appeal
"To hear the reformers talk," said a New York moving picture magnate the other day, "you would think that all of us producers were vicious barbarians insistent upon thrusting sex stuff down the public's filthy-white throat. As a matter of fact, I, for one, am happily married and live in a suburb and have two little daughters who henpeck me dreadfully. But I am also a business man, and I know what will sell and what won't. I know that the recent du Barry picture which made such a hit would undoubtedly have failed if they hadn't changed its name and called it 'Passion.' I know that 'The Charm School,' which had only a short run as a play, made a terrific hit on the screen. Why? Because it contained a lot of pretty girls in the slimmest of bathing suits and gym costumes. We don't imagine these things you know. They are facts."

But the moving picture industry no longer intends to be responsible for the kind of pictures it produces. It is going to clean house, as everybody has been suggesting that it should, and see what happens. Maybe the League for Better Pictures will succeed in its proposals, and maybe it will fail. But if the public does not like "better pictures," it can blame, not the movies, but the reformers.

Adventures of the Twins

The Twins Find the Shoes.
Nancy and Nick gave a shriek of delight when they saw the corner of their precious box sticking out from under the cockleshell.
Nancy pulled it out and opened the lid. "Everything is here, Nick," she exclaimed joyously. "If we just had our Magic Green Shoes that the wicked old Bobadil Jim stole, we could wish ourselves up to the top of the ocean again and be off."
"Green Shoes?" said a new voice beside them. "What did they look like?"
Nick and Nancy were amazed to find that this time it was a sea-cucumber who was addressing them. The creature looked exactly like any cucumber that might grow in your grandpa's garden, only the children learned that it was a really, truly fish and a particular friend of their friend the lobster.
When the sea-cucumber heard about the shoes, he rolled over several times with a groan. "That's just what it was that I ate," he cried. "and I thought they were scallops. Now I've got indigestion again! Ugh!"
"Good gracious!" said Nancy. "I thought that cucumbers gave other folks indigestion. Do they really get it themselves?"
"My, yes!" groaned the cucumber. friends and relatives.

THE BOOK OF DEBORAH
It Was Deb's Chance To Begin Jim—But She Ignored It

"I guess you had to shove Ann off from the train," I said to Deb.

"I guess I did. I picked up her handbag, took hold of her arm and escorted her firmly down the corridor and onto the station platform. I couldn't let my mother know, of course. So I put Ann into a taxi and sent her home to—to Jim."

"Deborah burns, you're a perfect wonder!" I cried.

"Not altogether. If I'd been that, I'd have taken her straight up to her husband's door. I didn't, and now—where is she? I feel like a criminal. I ought to have told Deb before this!"

There was a shake in Deb's voice.

"I understand why you didn't tell, Deb. It was to save Ann's good name—and Jim's honor. You're wonderful, Deb. You'd have gone to New York, chaperoned her against her will! Some stunt!"

"The brutal truth is that I intended to keep her fit to come back to her husband!"

"When you might have let her go east with Van—then a divorce—and Jimmy-boy free—and your own happiness forever. Deb, you're a great woman!"

"Merely a very sad one," Deb said softly. "Ann is mercurial like her father. Everybody she knows has to take turns saving her from herself, I suppose. It happened to be my turn, you see. Now, Jane, let me help you dress. You're tired after a night downstairs. Then we'll tell Bob."

"You left your new French pumps on the big lounge, Jane. I found them when I waited for Chrys this morning. Here!"

Sister Mary's Kitchen

When planning a menu with cheese as the central dish there are several things to be kept firmly in mind. Cheese is a concentrated food and bulky food must be added to satisfy hunger and aid digestion. A coarse bread should be used in place of white and a vegetable containing little starch. A salad or fresh fruit lightens the heaviness of the cheese. Tea or coffee and never chocolate should be served with a luncheon or supper in which cheese figures as the main dish.

Menu for Tomorrow.
BREAKFAST—Cereal cooked with dates, cream, hot baking powder biscuits, marmalade, coffee.
LUNCHEON—Minced ham on toast with cheese sauce, French endive, baked apple dumplings, tea.
DINNER—Cream of tomato soup, baked fish with stuffing, buttered beets, banana and peanut salad, squash pie, coffee.

Mary's Own Recipes

When dates are cooked with the cereal less sugar should be used with the "sugar and cream." Rolled oats or a bran porridge will keep the balance in the meal since the baking powder biscuits are made of fine white flour. The marmalade furnishes the enlivening touch.

MINCED HAM WITH CHEESE SAUCE

1 1/2 cups chopped ham (cold boiled or fried)
1 cup rice
2 cups milk
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
salt and pepper
1/2 cup grated cheese
1/2 cup minced pimiento
triangles of toast
Cook rice till tender and fluffy.

BAKED APPLE DUMPLINGS

1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 tablespoon lard
milk to make a soft dough four apples.

Pare and core apples and cook in a slight syrup until about half cooked. The apples must stay whole. Make a biscuit dough of the first five ingredients and roll about half an inch thick. Cut in squares large enough to wrap an apple in. Put a little butter in the cavity of each apple and wrap in the dough. Bake in a moderate oven for twenty minutes, basting with the syrup in which the apples were cooked. Serve warm with sugar and cream.

It's a Real Pleasure to own good Furniture

The home is the heart of the nation, and furniture provides the atmosphere that helps keep life in the home bright and cheery. Good furniture is a constant source of satisfaction, and among the choice selections of artistic designs found on our display floors there is not a single piece but measures up to the highest standards. In other words, furniture from the Saecker-Diderrich Co. has reputation behind it and long service ahead.

SUPPORT BILL FOR TWO TAX PERIODS

Madison Council Indorses Movement to Pay Taxes Twice a Year.

(Special to Post-Crescent) Madison, Wis.—Judge J. B. French, Superior, assemblyman from the first district of Douglas county, is going to have considerable support for his bill now being drafted, providing for the semi-annual payment of taxes. The common council of Madison, by a vote of 15 to 1, has gone on record in favor of such a measure and has instructed the city attorney to appear before the legislature in support of it.

Similar bills have been offered at every session of the legislature for nearly a score of years but have always been defeated. Judge French, who is chairman of the assembly judiciary committee, proposes to make the semi-annual collection of taxes compulsory in cities and villages but permitting the towns to decide for themselves as to whether they shall collect taxes twice a year.

Under the provisions of the bill it would be optional with the taxpayer as to whether he paid his taxes in a lump sum in the spring or paid half of them then and the balance in the fall, but there would be a small penalty of perhaps 2 per cent if he waited until fall to pay the entire amount.

CROWNHART MAY BE PLACED ON BENCH

Appointee in Justice Kerwin's Place Serves Until Jan. 1925.

(Special to Post-Crescent) Madison, Wis.—The death of Justice James C. Kerwin, of the Supreme court Saturday afternoon, although not a great surprise here, was a shock to his friends. He had been failing in health for more than a year and was unable to attend court for nearly six months. For the last two months, however, he had gone to his office in the capitol almost daily and was working on an opinion as late as Thursday. He remained at home Friday and was taken very ill Saturday morning, passing away shortly after 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

The death of Justice Kerwin leaves a vacancy for Geo. Blaine to fill by appointment. Under the law in case of a vacancy it is filled by appointment by the governor until the next spring election at which no other justice is to be elected. Justice Vinje's term expires next January and he will be a candidate for reelection this spring. In the spring of 1922 Justice Burr W. Jones, appointed by Gov. Philipp to succeed the late Chief Justice Winslow, will either be a candidate or have his successor elected, while Justice Siebeck's term expires January 1, 1924, which means he will be a candidate for reelection in the spring of 1925. Thus, the appointment to be made by Gov. Blaine will virtually be for the unexpired term of Justice Kerwin, which would end Jan. 1, 1925, and will give the appointee practically four years on the Supreme bench before he would come up for election.

Although no intimation has been given as to whether or not Gov. Blaine has so much as thought of a probable appointee, it is generally believed here that the place will be offered to Charles H. Crownhart, revisor of statutes, who opposed Justice M. B. Rosenberry for the bench two years ago. Mr. Crownhart, who practiced law in Superior for years before coming to Madison, was appointed as a member of the industrial commission under LaFollette, and was chairman of the commission for several years. He has been prominent in the councils of the progressive party for many years and was a close political advisor of Gov. Blaine in the recent campaign.

HIRST RESIGNATION SURPRISES CAPITOL

Highway Engineer Leaves $7,200 Position to Go Into Business.

(Special to Post-Crescent) Madison, Wis.—The resignation of A. R. Hirst as chief highway engineer of Wisconsin, announced last week, was a decided surprise in the capitol and to members of the legislature. The resignation was presented to the members of the highway commission Friday, to become effective July 1, or Jan. 1, 1922, thus giving the commission ample time in which to select his successor.

Mr. Hirst denies the report that politics had anything to do with his resignation. Politics has never entered the highway department, he said, and never should. He decided to give up the position which has been paying $7,200 per year, for business reasons. Less than a year ago it was reported that he had been offered the position of chief highway engineer in California at a salary of $10,000 per year, but declined the offer. It is understood he expects to engage in private business.

Racine—Sheriff James late Saturday night raided the farm of Frank Kulinski, in the town of Caledonia, Racine county, and close to the Milwaukee county line.

Two stills, one of forty gallon capacity and the other of ten gallons were found and confiscated as were four barrels of mash, and gallons of moonshine and dilapid used in coloring moonshine so as to resemble bonded whisky.

Kulinski, who owns a large and well stocked farm, was not placed under arrest but was ordered to appear in the Municipal court on Monday to answer to the charge of manufacturing and selling moonshine.

URGES LICENSING OF AUTO DRIVERS IN BADGER STATE

Chairman Hazelwood of Highway Commission Would Make Driving Safer.

(Special to Post-Crescent) Madison—John A. Hazelwood, chairman of the Wisconsin Highway Commission, advocated the licensing of automobile drivers and compelling every auto owner to carry liability insurance in his address before the Tenth Annual School Road this afternoon.

Mr. Hazelwood speaking on the general topic of Highway Safety told of the work done by the highway department in the matter of safety signs, etc., but said considerable work is yet to be done along that line. He declared that 7,569 people were fatally injured in automobile accidents in the United States in 1919 and that when the final figures for 1920 are compiled they will probably reach 10,000, more than one-half the traffic accidents of the country. In comparison to the number of automobile licenses issued, he said Wisconsin stands 19th in the number of fatal auto accidents.

"It is my judgment," he said "that one way to lessen the number of automobile accidents in Wisconsin would be to require every person who drives an automobile to have in his possession a license. The very fact that every man has to possess a license calls attention to the importance of the position at the automobile wheel. He sees it is a matter that concerns not only himself, his family, his friends, his neighbors but the general public. Many states have for a long time resorted to licensing automobile drivers. In these states automobile accidents are much lower than they are in other states. Massachusetts has had an auto driver's license for 10 years and holds second place among the 44 states on the list of least motorists killed, while Wisconsin is nineteenth."

Mr. Hazelwood advocated issuing a license upon application, signed by the applicant and two reputable citizens. He also advocated requiring the owner of every car to carry liability insurance. He suggested that the state charge $1 for each license for a man to drive a particular machine, with $2 for a chauffeur's license which would permit him to drive any machine, supplementary licenses for members of the family or employees of the owner of the car could be issued at 50 cents each.

"I am satisfied that if this license system were introduced into Wisconsin there would be at once a minimizing of automobile accidents," he said. "This license fee could quite properly be used for county parks, planting of trees and shrubbery along side of roads to prevent snow blockage, building highways in and thru state parks and for other purposes directly connected with highway improvement."

He suggested that 25 per cent of the license fund should be returned to the counties for the rural planning committees to expend for county parks and planting trees and shrubs along the roadside for the prime purpose of preventing snow-drifting in winter. Ten per cent he said should be set aside for use in keeping the present marking system of the trunk highways up to standard and to provide other direction signs, etc. 15 per cent should be allotted to the Conservation Commission to build and maintain roads to and through state parks and across state lands; and 50 per cent should be turned over to the regular state highway fund. "This would be a source of revenue that would be feasible and practical and relieve the state from making that much state levy," he declared.

"Wisconsin will have over 300,000

motor vehicles this year. The fact indicated somewhat the fund that will be received from auto licenses and what could be gained from a driver's license. He declared there is over $25,000,000 available to spend in 1921 on highways in Wisconsin and that it will be spent economically and judiciously.

The complexion which always attracts

She may not be beautiful, this girl who wins attention, and other women wonder what men see in her. Look again, and the compelling charm proves to be a smooth, fresh, flawless skin, radiant with the charm of health.

Cleopatra's beauty secret

The means was discovered 3,000 years ago in ancient Egypt. The use of palm and olive oils as cosmetic cleansers was one of Cleopatra's beauty secrets. There is nothing known so good for skins as palm and olive oils. And these are blended in Palmolive soap.

Soap is essential

Nothing takes the place of soap. Use whatever else you will. But once a day, wash off the oil, dirt, perspiration and powder, which clog the pores.

To do that you need soap. Not ordinary soap, harsh and irritating. That is not for faces. Use a soap which is an emollient, which is smooth and balmy in effect. Such soap is made by modern science from blended palm and olive oils.

Before you sleep

Use powder and rouge if you wish, but don't leave them on at night. Remove them with a soft, penetrating, cleansing lather.

Blackheads and pimples result from clogged pores. Wash your face nightly with mild, pure soothing Palmolive soap and protect yourself against skin troubles.

Millions of women keep their skins clean and healthy, smooth and fresh, by the use of Palmolive soap.

10 cents the modest price

No higher price can buy a better skin soap. The supreme ingredients in a facial soap are palm and olive oils.

The Palmolive price is due to mammoth production. And to our policy—to bring the best within the reach of all.

The Palmolive Company, Milwaukee, U. S. A. The Palmolive Company of Canada, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Classic beauties used them

The beauties of Egypt, Greece and Rome used palm and olive oils. And those ancient beauties bequeathed to us their secret of beauty.

The modern scientist, after all hiccups, finds nothing to compare. So we go to Africa for palm oil—to Spain for olive oil. And we blend these cosmetics of ancient queens in a balmy, penetrating soap.

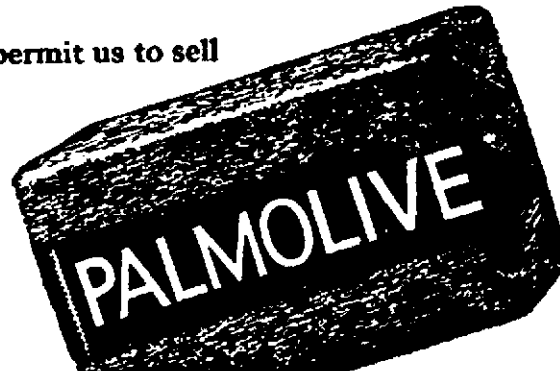

All men are soap users

Women should note that all men wash with soap. Men's complexions, which average to fine, are due to simple cleanliness. They are not users of creams and cosmetics. That same basis of clean pores should be your basis too. This is the first requisite.

NEW SOLONS SCARED BY HOT RECEPTION

Old Timers in Madison Ride Rough Shod Over Younger Colleagues.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison—The second week of the fifty-fifth general assembly found both houses marking time. Factions were playing the watchful waiting game, astute political observers declared and many predicted a break this week.

Only a comparatively few bills were introduced in spite of the fact that more than three hundred are being prepared, many of them now ready for introduction. New members are hesitating in presenting bills. It was claimed by legislative attaches, because of the unfriendly reception a few of their measures had received at the hands of committees. There was a marked disposition on the part of veteran legislators to ride rough-shod over attempts of the younger solons to "save the state."

Administration forces are apparently complacent even though the senate developed rumblings last week to the effect that ratification of the governor's appointments might be held the limit provided by the senate rules or at least subject to scrutiny and a fight. A conciliatory policy on the part of administration forces is said by observers to have paved the way for a more or less amicable adjustment, both in the matter of appointments and in administration measures to be introduced in both houses.

The crucial test of this policy is scheduled for this week when the governor is expected to announce at least two appointments and submit them to the senate for ratification. If factional interests do not draw the line too closely on these appointments, it may be assumed, observers said, that a working agreement is effective and may survive the session.

The educational controversy is bound to take a place of primary importance during the coming weeks. Four plans will be under consideration with the New York and California plans as compromise measures and a good way out of the difficulty. Both of these plans would call for a complete reorganization of the entire educational system. The Olson bill, introduced last week, will focus attention upon educational question. Other bills are said to be contemplated and may be introduced this week, fostering one or more of the proposed plans. The committee hearings for the week will bring attention to some important measures. The joint committee on state affairs will consider the Higgins joint resolution providing an appeal to congress for annexation of the upper peninsula of Michigan to Wisconsin.

The educational and welfare committee will consider a minimum wage scale for public school teachers while the joint finance committee will listen to the railroad commission for an increased appropriation.

The People's Forum

Assessor System

Editor Post-Crescent—In regard to the election to be held in the city tomorrow on appointment of an assessor, will we as taxpayers be assured of a more equal or better assessment in the future, than we have had in the past? If not why burden the city with the expense of a special election? There have a number of complaints come to my notice from taxpayers as to their assessments for 1920.

One instance is of a piece of property consisting of two buildings and lots owned by a non-resident, whereas one house and lot was sold in the fall of 1919 and transfer duly put on record. In former years the above named property was assessed as a whole in 1920 the same pieces of properties were assessed again as one to the former owner when the new owner showed a transfer had been made. When the new purchaser went to pay his taxes on the property the tax collector found no tax receipt against said property separately, which caused considerable annoyance and time. The tax collector said: "I can do nothing on the matter, you will have to hunt up the former owner and adjust your taxes with him."

Another instance where a business man told me of owning 3 lots with two houses on two lots, one lot empty. This piece of property for several years had been assessed as a whole. He sold one lot two years ago, one house and lot sixteen months ago. In 1920 it was still assessed as a whole. Both transfers had been put on record at that time. Those are only two of a number I have heard of personally.

I am not criticizing these men because they did not yet a more equal valuation. They perhaps tried to do their very best. I am not acquainted personally with either of them as I have only been a property owner for three years.

Now about the one man assessor. A few years ago when I owned several pieces of property in another city about the size of Appleton we had a one man assessor. The people stated at that time now we shall have a fair assessment. This assessor was a prominent business man who for several years had been in the real estate, and had a good reputation. That year's assessment was completed late and tax collecting was delayed. City officials borrowed money to pay the claims until tax collections began. At tax collecting time there was much dissatisfaction as to the valuation. Another year's assessment when the equalization board met the dissatisfaction as to the valuation of the property was so great that the board wanted to have a new reassessment by outsiders but it was so late in the fall that there would not have been time before getting out the tax roll and they adjusted many claims as best they could. The assessor stated before the board that he could not complete the assessment roll in time if he had to give those different properties a personal inspection.

If some of our city officials appointed sitting in their leather cushioned chairs would give a little of their time to keeping tabulated statements of transfer of property in the city and the price paid for same, and hand over this statement to the assessors they could easily arrive at a more just assessment because the transfers in the city have been very numerous in the last year.

Now Mr. City Employee do not think that I criticize all of you for not doing these things which perhaps are not required of you, but if you were in some other business and your foreman would see that the employees under him were not giving their very best efforts, you would notify that foreman to turn out more work or resign and you would put another man in his place.

I have found quite a lot of dissatisfaction among the people as to the raise in the water meter rates at this time. Had this raise taken place a year or more ago when all the people were busy at work earning large wages there would have been little dissatisfaction but at this time when materials and labor are getting cheaper a raise does not look good to most people. Has it taken the officials several years to find that the water department has been run at a loss?

I do not want the aldermen to be impressed that I criticize their good business judgment for I am only acquainted with two of them and one I believe to be a success in his line of business.

I hope that the readers of this article will look at those mistakes made by the officials in the past.

Yours truly,
Charles A. Kaufman.

Wrong Numbers

If, for any reason, you are connected with a telephone other than the one you called, move the receiver hook slowly up and down four or five times, or until the operator answers. (The signal will not operate if hook is moved rapidly.)

Tell her that you have been given a wrong number, and repeat the number you called for.

This routine is necessary to avoid the possibility of having the nickel "collected" by the operator (if using a coin box telephone), or having the call charged (if using a measured service telephone). There is, of course, no charge where a wrong number is given, but sometimes the operator does not know about it and should be told.

HILL HAS WON 43 BOUTS IN 3 YEARS

Appleton Man Perfecting Head Lock for Bout With Romanoff Here.

When Romanoff walks on the mat in Armory G Wednesday night to test his skill and strength against George Hill, he will meet a man who has a wrestling record which compares favorably to the best in the country. In the last three years Hill has won 43 matches and lost 7, meeting the best wrestlers in the country during that time.

Hill says he is in the best of condition. He has been trying to perfect his headlock hold and expects to give it a real test when he tackles Romanoff. Hill has a lot of strength in his arms and knows how to clamp on the hold which won the world title for "Strangler" Lewis.

If Hill succeeds in whipping Romanoff an effort will be made to match him with either Stanislaus Zyzanski or Earl Caddock here.

Here is Hill's record in the last three years:

- Charles Cutshall, won; Joe Kidderman, won; August Weidner, won; Carl Brown, won; Earl Caddock, won; George Hitchcock, won; George Titus, won; Helmer Myrie, lost; George Cassill, won; Ed Worth, won; Billy Edwards, won; Chick Breen, won; Jud Thompson, won; Helmer Myrie, lost; Young Sampson, won; Carl Wilson, won; Harry Cavanaugh, won; Chick Breen, won; Joe Schultz, won; Cyclone Burns, won; Herman Cook, won; Perry Gander, won; Bill Dementral, lost; Gustaferson, won; Orlando, won; Eckloff, won; Alexander, won; Frank Martin, lost; Frank Martin, won; Dick Hinkle, won; Sam Clapham, won; Alexander, draw; Leo Hayati, won; Masked Marvill, won; Jack Rosener, won; Jack Sampson, won; Jack Nelson, won; Helmer Myrie, lost; John Frieberg, lost; Bill Tagerud, won; Leo Alexander, won; Jim Estoff, won; Charles Olson, won; Kid Zoller, won; Jack Webster, won; Carl Zell, won; Gustafson, won; Steve Auder, won.

MONTREAL ALL SET FOR TITLE BATTLE

Tex Ricard May Be Playing Lone Hand Before Day Is Over.

By United Press Leased Wire. Montreal—Enthusiasm over the prospect of the Dempsey-Carpenter fight being held in Montreal reached that stage today where fight fans were computing the number of "tons of nails" how far the number would reach "if placed end-to-end," and the number of "idle men" who would be given employment, etc.

C. F. Graham, who returned from New York after a conference with Tex Ricard, said he was confident of the success of his trip to Ottawa today to see the federal authorities regarding taxation and permission to stage the bout.

Will Go It Alone

New York—Tex Ricard probably will become the chief impresario of the Dempsey-Carpenter heavyweight championship spectacle, some time today, if rumors up and down Broadway can be believed.

Rickard and William A. Brady, partners in promoting the bout, and the American representative of Charles E. Cochran, the other partner, are to meet late this afternoon to "talk over things."

Rickard has intimated that he will go through with the arrangement with the help of Canadian capitalists if his partners withdraw from the original agreement.

O'NEIL IS SURE THE INDIANS WILL REPEAT

By United Press Leased Wire. New York—There's only one team in the American league and it's the Cleveland Indians.

Steve O'Neill says so and Steve to say the least, has the right to his own opinion.

"By some misfortune the White Sox are shot," he said, "and we have only the Yankees to watch. They've been strengthened by winter trade but we don't fear them."

"Stan Coveleske can still use his spitball and that means a world to us. He's the best pitcher in baseball and he'll have the help of another of the greatest in Duster Madsen—watch that southpaw next season. He didn't have much of a chance last year to show how really good he is."

"Are we looking for a new shortstop?" No, not by a long shot, says Sewell will be looked upon some day as the star of the league. He's a high class ball player and he's full of the stuff that makes champions. Who wouldn't want him? We have the same right with even more strength than we had last year."

HIGH SCHOOL FRESHMEN LOSE TO ST. MARY SQUAD

A team of high school freshmen was defeated at basketball Sunday by the St. Mary's squad. The score was 16 to 8. The team was St. Mary's Freshman, consisting of: Halley, guards; Courtney, forwards; Jones and Nelson, guards; and Bloomer, forward. Swager, Hutter and Selig, guards.

Ross Thinks Records Are Safe For Year

NORMAN ROSS

Chicago—Norman Ross will have more to do with bath tubs than swimmers this year.

He's gone into the plumbing business.

But the champion swimmer hasn't given up the water sport.

It just happens that he's devoting more of his time this winter to fixing pipes, bath tubs, radiators, etc., than to his swimming.

Ross, who is holder of many championships which he has gathered in six different countries, thinks that more people will swim in 1921 than ever before.

People Get Wise

"They are learning that swimming is good for them," he says.

"Swimming is wholesome. It is the best exercise for the ordinary man or woman."

"The past year proved that America produces the best swimmers in the world. At the Olympic games we showed them all our methods were best."

Records to Stand

Ross doesn't think any water records will be broken in 1921.

"Perhaps Duke Kahanamoku may set a few new marks. But it's my guess that his will stand against anybody else."

Records to stand:

- Three-quarter mile—time 17 minutes, 25 seconds.
- 500 meters—time 6 minutes, 14 2/3 seconds.
- Half mile—time 11 minutes, 35 seconds.
- 1000 yards—time 12 minutes, 46 seconds.

Are As Set

"It isn't true," says Ross, "that a swimmer is good only in his youth. Almost all the champions are beyond that age."

"The duke is 31 now. He seems to swim better every year."

"It is hard for a man to become a good swimmer after 30, but if he learns to swim when he is young, as he grows older he learns better how to use his strength."

INTERLAKE TEAM WINS TWO GAMES

Millmen Defeat DePere Friday Night and Wisconsin Rapids on Saturday.

The Interlake basketball team came back strong and capped two week-end battles on foreign floors. On Friday evening the team defeated the strengthened St. Norberts squad at DePere by a score of 35 to 15 in one of the best games of the season. The passing and team work of the locals was of high order and they used the five man defense to great advantage.

On Saturday night the locals slugged the Army floor at Wisconsin Rapids where in a hard fought game the locals avenged the defeat handed them here a few weeks ago. It was a great battle, with the Interlakers scoring the first basket only to have the Rapids come back in the next minute with a basket tying the score.

The locals then took the lead when where McCourt dropped in a pretty goal. The Rapids team came right back and again tied the score.

From this time on it was a battle, first one team and then the other being ahead. The half ended with the score 11 to 10 in favor of the locals. In the second half the local team put up a great exhibition of ball play, playing right forward shot goal after goal.

The game ended with the score of 25 to 17 in favor of the locals. This week they play the Turner team of Green Bay and a return game with Fogarty's team in Fond du Lac.

THOMAS IS A REAL STAR OF THE MAT

Lengthy Collegian Is Making Name for Himself in Wrestling Game.

The wisecrack of the wrestling game in Appleton has been greatly interested in the development of Captain "Red" Thomas of the Lawrence team.

Thomas entered Lawrence last year and reported to Coach Atkinson at the beginning of the wrestling season.

He failed to make the team in his freshman year but nevertheless stuck to it and is proving himself to be the star this year. Thomas is a middle weight, very slim and far from the ideal build of a wrestler but has developed such speed that Kubitz has been the only man Thomas has met this year who has been able to stand up against the captain's speed.

Thomas has received several offers to go into the professional game, but has turned them all down, preferring to win honors as an amateur for the present.

Coach Atkinson has a string of winners this year in Thomas, Kubitz, Reinde, and Alexander. The 145 pound and the heavyweight classes are still problems but these will probably be solved before the big meets of the season. The Kimberly team gave the collegians a big scare in the recent meet and the Lawrence men are working hard this week to prevent a repetition of their last minute victory against the mill team.

There is a possibility that Milo Swanton, captain-elect of last year's team who failed to return to school this year, may return to Lawrence this semester which will help fill up the big gap in the 145 pound class as Swanton is an experienced man.

Swanton made a good record with the local team last year, making both trips to Ames, Iowa, and to Madison.

The locals then took the lead when where McCourt dropped in a pretty goal. The Rapids team came right back and again tied the score.

From this time on it was a battle, first one team and then the other being ahead. The half ended with the score 11 to 10 in favor of the locals. In the second half the local team put up a great exhibition of ball play, playing right forward shot goal after goal.

The game ended with the score of 25 to 17 in favor of the locals. This week they play the Turner team of Green Bay and a return game with Fogarty's team in Fond du Lac.

On Saturday night the locals slugged the Army floor at Wisconsin Rapids where in a hard fought game the locals avenged the defeat handed them here a few weeks ago. It was a great battle, with the Interlakers scoring the first basket only to have the Rapids come back in the next minute with a basket tying the score.

EUROPE'S FAITH IN U. S. WRECKED BY WALL STREET

A. N. Simon Discusses Human Nature and Industry in Forum Address.

In his lecture on "Human Nature and Industry" in Lawrence Memorial chapel Sunday evening A. N. Simon said the greatest opportunity that the American people have for the world war. It was announced that America entered the war to end all wars and the people of Europe looked to this country as their saviour. But their faith was shattered by money grabbing of Wall Street. Notwithstanding that the country fell down the speaker did not believe that the American people would permit Wall Street to further interfere in its peace efforts.

Mr. Simon said that the machine method of dealing with the world problem had failed and that there was no such thing as revolution. He dwelt at length upon the psychological method that was being tried but upon various human psychology. He claimed 10 years ago psychology was a thing that dwelt in the clouds but since the war it was brought down to earth and put to work. Psychology tells us that five-sixths of the instincts of man are submerged and only one-sixth shows itself, and it is this one-sixth that we are working with, trying to find out the best way of directing it, feeling that in a thorough understanding of human instincts lies the solution of the problem.

Human Instinct

The speaker recalled an incident where he with several others visited a village in Europe that had been destroyed by shot and shell. The buildings were demolished and what was formerly the street was filled with debris. As the party was driving along in an automobile, it came upon a child dragging a cart. His mother, who was near by called to it to get out of the way. The child, however, he had of the crying and working and it took him all that time before he came upon the point and when he saw it illustrated objectively he did not realize it until afterwards that it was the cry of the whole solution, the cry of human instinct.

The belligerent and group instincts were discussed at length and the speaker said that at no time in the history of man has the belligerent instinct been so pronounced as in the twentieth century.

Comments Shop Council

The shop council introduced in the United States and several European countries was recommended and is producing remarkable results in England, Belgium and France. Through cooperative work in England, it has saved the major center of the world from New York back to London and cooperative work has made Belgium bonds gilt edged. Other European countries are also recovering rapidly from the effects of the war brought through this method of employment.

By being represented in the shop council employees are taking a greater interest in their work and are constantly endeavoring to do better work. By means of illustration the speaker called attention to the changes that are being wrought in the furniture line at Grand Rapids, Mich. A few years ago the furniture was of a very inferior quality, while now it ranks with the best. In speaking of pride in workmanship the speaker called attention to an old man who saw more in the carved legs of a table he had made than anything else that came within the range of his vision. This was in striking contrast to another man who for twelve years had been making a certain article on a machine without knowing its name or what it was used for. The object of the shop council is to instill in each man a love for his work.

Lay Cards on Table

Mr. Simon said that employers who, in dealing with their employees, laid their cards on the table, so to speak, had less unrest in their plants than those who failed to take them into their confidence. A certain employer complained to him of labor troubles and Mr. Simon inquired if he had placed his cards on the table and he said he had not. For the reason that his company had made a big profit the previous year and it did not seem to demand more wages. The speaker advised to do so as the men would then inquire how much profit the employees thought the company made and was informed that it was five or six times the actual amount. The speaker suggested that if he would take his workers into his confidence and pay them more wages if necessary he would have less friction.

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

"Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit."

Mr. Hay Bacillus Sets Pace For Large Families

He Also Can Give a Few Points on How to Double Your Weight.

How much avoidous have you gained in the last second, minute, or hour? How often have you doubled your weight? Probably you have gained only three or six pounds in one year which would be about one-fourth of your entire weight. How exceedingly slow. Let me introduce you to my friend, Mr. Hay Bacillus who doubles every half hour. He makes his living in the laboratory of the Science hall of Lawrence college. He has lots of relatives, such as sister Streptococcus aureus, and brother Paratuberculosis and Bacillus coli.

He grows so very rapidly in ideal conditions that there are millions which develop in a day. Let us say that one lonely bacillus was hung by himself at 12 o'clock. There would be a squad of four by 1 o'clock, a regiment of 2,024 at 4:30, an army of 32,256 by 7 o'clock, 4,194,304 at 10:30, and 53,574,912 at 12:30. At this rate how many would there be in a year?

speaker was acquainted, after being repeatedly blacklisted applied for a position in a large manufacturing plant in Milwaukee at any kind of work. The man had not been in the plant long before the workmen made him their leader, another instinct that was emphasized, and in conversation with the worker Mr. Simon learned that he held his employer in the highest esteem. In conversing with the employer the speaker learned that he was intending to promote his new workman to foreman or superintendent as soon as an opportunity presented itself. The relation instinct was thus brought out.

Mr. Simon said it was not generally known, as it had never appeared in newspapers, that the drop in the price of sugar was due in great measure to Slavonia dumping several million tons of sugar on the market. He also said that very few articles on economic questions of the day find their way into newspapers or popular magazines.

Dr. J. S. Reeve presided. Miss Doris Brenner opened the program with three organ selections and Prof. Cooley offered invocation. Dr. H. E. Peabody announced inasmuch as the lecture next Sunday evening would be the last it was necessary to nominate members of the next general committee. Upon motion the president was instructed to make such nominations. Dr. Peabody also stated the forum had proven itself self-sustaining.

EVANGELISTS ARE INVITED TO CITY

Five Churches and Y. M. C. A. Send Invitation to McCombe-Clase Party.

Five churches of the community co-operating with the Y. M. C. A. have invited the McCombe-Clase evangelistic party to hold a series of meetings here from April 17 to May 15. The party consists of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. McCombe of Toronto, Canada, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clase of Ohio.

These workers were selected as especially qualified for the work in this community. They were exceptionally successful a year ago in Kenosha. Those who have heard them report their methods altogether different from those employed by the typical professional evangelist. They leave no bad taste in the mouth after they are gone.

Dr. McCombe is a splendid speaker. A pastor of a large church in New York city made the statement that Mrs. McCombe is the finest woman speaker he has ever heard.

Mr. Clase is the possessor of a fine, high tenor voice, and he has charge of the chorus work. He is a fascinating speaker and splendid worker among young people. He has had considerable experience in overseas work and knows how to approach men. Mrs. Clase accompanies at the piano and the four of them form a singing quartet.

BUTTERICK PATTERNS for February now on sale.

The Wonderful Deltor

DELTOR is a new and wonderful addition to Butterick Patterns, which does for the skill, cleverness and artistry of your cutting, sewing and finishing what the pattern itself does for the style of your garment.

As the pattern enables you to reproduce in your garment the style-lines originated by a master-designer in some Paris or New York salon, so DELTOR enables you to reproduce, in the cutting of your goods for it, the dash and snap and accuracy of its original cutter; to reproduce the skilful precision and niceties of its original tailor in your sewing and making up; and to reproduce in the finishing of its details those subtle touches, even the very individualities of method, of its original Paris or Fifth Avenue creator.

DELTOR is truly a way of supplying you now with practically a pattern for your fingers, to supplement the pattern for your goods. It removes the last difficulty from home sewing. It banishes the last tell-tale evidence of the made-at-home garment.

You may well ask, "What can this DELTOR be?"

In effect it is like this: Just imagine that when you open your Butterick Pattern to begin work, the master-cutter from the salon where the style originated were to appear at your side and say, "Wait, Madame; tell me first—of the materials and widths indicated on your pattern—which did you choose—40-inch? Very well; then the best way to lay your pattern out upon the goods is thus—put this piece here, and this piece there—and so on until every piece of the pattern is laid down and pinned to the goods.

Imagine what a priceless help that would be!

It is exactly what DELTOR does. DELTOR shows it in graphic pictures, individuality for every pattern and individuality for each size and each view of the pattern, and specifically for each different width of goods suitable. And so clearly that you have nothing to do but follow the picture in order to cut out your goods precisely as the expert New York or Paris cutter would cut them.

So, unlike your present hesitancy and worry over cutting into your goods even with the best of patterns, you now take your shears and cut without the slightest doubt of results. You have the satisfying surety that you are cutting so the grain or pattern of the fabric will run in every single piece in just the right direction, or at just the right angle, to insure harmonious and artistic matching of every detail in the finished garment.

A secret of the cutter's art, that, which is usually considered the distinguishing mark of only the high-class professional—but DELTOR makes it a certainty for you in your own work.

Then you have also the calm assurance that you are cutting your material in the absolutely most economical way. Because in DELTOR an expert is showing you his clever way of getting the full use of every possible inch of goods, you not only waste not the fraction of a yard but you have to buy just that much less! And in these days, even an eighth or a quarter of a yard of almost any material is an important item, and even though you use an inexpensive fabric, this part of DELTOR will save at least the cost of the pattern. With some expensive materials, such as satins, silks, velvets, fur cloth and the like, you may easily Save Two, Three, Even Four Dollars!

Do you begin to see all that DELTOR means to you? Yet this is only a part of it. DELTOR does much more.

Imagine that with your material cut and the various pieces about you, just as you begin to resituate as to what and where to begin, and to worry a little about making a mistake—imagine that just then appears the expert tailor who made up the original design of your pattern. Imagine his bringing all his experience to YOU and saying, "First, Madame, I take this piece, then that—now baste them here. So! Now take yonder piece—turn it under at the edge just this much—thus. Place it here—now take it to your machine and sew with a French seam just to this point—" and so on till every piece is in its own place to a nicety.

DELTOR, in simple pictures, shows each essential point. It leaves not a possibility for error, not a chance for a single amateurish touch. It renders even the most intricate and picky details, like the precise adjustment of a sleeve, or the dashing set of a collar, perfectly simple. It makes things come right the very first time—because, through DELTOR, a master is guiding your fingers at every important turn.

But there is more. With the making-up done, and your anxiety rising to have it LOOK dainty and clever—with no home-made crudity appearing—imagine, then, a clever little French seamstress, one of those indispensable factors of the great salons, in whose deft fingers an everyday needle or pair of shears performs feats as truly artistic as a painter's brush, and under whose skilful touch even an ordinary bow of ribbon acquires a personality of its own—imagine such a one now appearing at your side. "This little tuck, Madame," she says, "I would turn like this—so! Now with your needle—there! Stitch, stitch, stitch—it is done. Now this end of ribbon—it looks stiff—we must give it the character. Take it—so. Now with your shears—like this. Snip!—and so on with each little finishing touch until your garment takes on the very PERSONALITY of a real Paris or Fifth Avenue creation!

That, in effect, is what DELTOR does.

And all so amazingly simple!

DELTOR is not a set of tedious instructions. It does not impose on you with technical terms that you must interpret for yourself, or give you mere broad generalities that you have first to understand and then apply for yourself to the particular work in hand. One of the remarkable things about DELTOR is that in just a very few simple pictures it makes every necessary movement as clear as A-B-C. This is because each individual Butterick Pattern has its own individual DELTOR. The ESSENTIAL movements, and the essential movements only, of a master-craftsman—in cutting, making and finishing the very garment YOU are making, and the very same size of it—are given you in simple, graphic pictures, one by one, and the accuracy, the skill, the experience, even the personal cleverness and ingenuity of the expert, reproduces itself naturally for you in your own work.

If you are already experienced in making your own clothes—even if you are indeed expert—DELTOR, by giving you a peep into the very inside secrets of the Paris and New York artists' ways, will unfold many new ideas to you and broaden your own capacity. But if you are totally lacking in experience, or doubtful of your own ability—just a bit worried, perhaps, about cutting into a nice piece of goods—then DELTOR will be a real wonder-worker for you. You will hardly believe your own fingers ever turned out such beautiful work.

Not since Butterick first invented the dress pattern itself has such an improvement in home sewing been devised as the DELTOR. Just as the pattern itself brings you the lines and drapes of a New York or Paris style for your garment, so now the DELTOR brings you the personal methods and skill and art of the New York or Paris workshop for your fingers.

Once you have experienced the pleasure and ease, and the pride in such results as you never dared to hope for before, that come automatically with the use of the Butterick Pattern with its accompanying DELTOR, you will wonder how you ever could have gotten along without it.

DELTOR, of course, like other improvements in dress patterns, is exclusive to Butterick patterns. As Butterick invented the dress pattern, which made good style possible for made-at-home garments, so now Butterick has invented DELTOR to make expert workmanship and the touch of Paris and New York art possible in all home sewing. DELTOR is patented throughout the world and can be had only with Butterick patterns.

With the introduction of the DELTOR, the amount of goods specified on each Butterick Pattern will be the amount found exact for the expert cutting method shown by the DELTOR, which naturally will be the least possible amount that any pattern would require without the economy of material made possible by the DELTOR. The coming of the DELTOR, therefore, is almost always bound to mean that you have to buy less goods for equal results than you ever did before with any pattern.

Butterick Patterns have always been found superior, because of accuracy and style, but with the coming of the DELTOR they are ESSENTIAL for the greatest economy, and are ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY for the most skilled, clever workmanship on your garment.
